To Whom It May Concern:

After my retirement from the legislature, I am pleased to offer to you my services as a lobbyist. Following the requisite waiting period, one year, on November 8th, 2007 I will be extending the governmental relations division of my private practice in an effort to assist you and others in ensuring that legislation essential to the betterment of your business practices is supported and legislation to the detriment of your business practices is strongly opposed.

After twelve years as a state senator, sitting on numerous committees, attending both regular and special legislative sessions, and serving as Chairman of the Senate Environment Committee and Caucus Chairman of the Senate Republican Caucus, I have not only had the opportunity to observe and participate in the legislative process, I have also met and formed strong relationships with so many individuals continuously involved in the process. I have worked closely with and become dear friends with many holding office and those who keep the wheels turning behind the scenes. Further, through countless leadership and legislative policy meetings with the executive branch, I have both gained first-hand knowledge of how policy decisions are made and become intimately familiar with the applicable rules of law and procedure that regularly present necessary hurdles that cannot be circumvented. I firmly believe my participation in state government over the last decade and more, during which I learned the intricacies of all that is involved in both passing and prohibiting the passage of legislation, places me in a unique position where I am better able to achieve your goals than those who have not had the opportunity to personally pass or refuse to pass legislation. It is not simply a matter of drafting a potential statutory change, urging some members to lend it their support, and then watching as it becomes law. There is a very complex system of committees, individuals, and requisite processes that if not followed to the letter of the law can prohibit needed legislation from being ratified.

I look forward to working with you in the future and, in the meantime, I am more than happy to offer you any advice you may need regarding the legislative process, potentially applicable rules of law and procedure, steps utilized in making process, potentially applicable rules of law and procedure, steps utilized in making policy decisions, or simply be a go-to person on a particular issue. Please do not hesitate to contact me if I may be of assistance.

Yours in service,

Jeff Miller

Governmental Relations

Vast experience in all branches of government has given me immeasurable experience and knowledge of the inner workings of the legislative process. Serving both in office and as chairman of committees and leadership groups for twelve years, I am intimately familiar with the necessary steps and the behind-the-scenes ins and outs requisite for passing legislation. Further, the relationships developed throughout my years in office permit me to work closely with legislators and staff in urging the passing of legislation.

State Senator

I served in the General Assembly from 1994 through 2006, I was present during three gubernatorial elections, the state income tax debate, and the passage of the state lottery scholarship program. I served as Chairman of the Senate Environment and Conservation Committee, as Chairman of the Senate Republican Caucus and on innumerable committees and subcommittees dealing with any and every area of law affecting Tennessee citizens, small businesses, and corporations.

Attorney at Law

Serving in a general private practice since 1988, I have worked with every aspect of the law, specializing in personal injury, worker's compensation, bankruptcy, and family law. I am intimately aware of the effects the passage or prohibition of legislation can have.
